

Achieve business agility with decision automation

Your ability to respond to the speed of business change is a differentiator. Getting products to market faster, reducing operating costs, managing risk, and growing markets, all require the business to respond quickly.

The inability to quickly change decision logic within enterprise systems has long been a barrier impacting the speed of change. The answer is to separate decision logic from the underlying technology and manage updates in near real time using a no code platform.

Unlock business logic and increase the speed of your organization

Sapiens Decision automates decisions associated with business policies to accelerate change across enterprise systems.

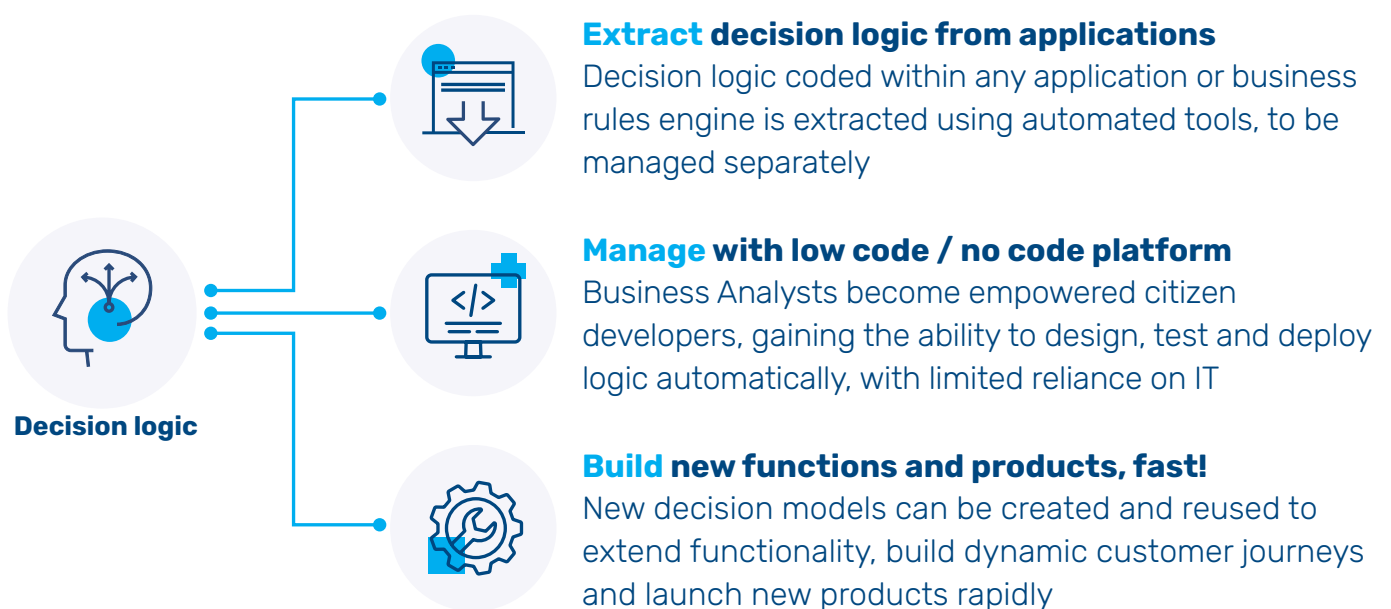

Sapiens Decision is used by leading insurance carriers in such applications as:

- Increase straight through processing for new business and renewals
- Accelerate updates to underwriting policy, often within a day
- Increase first day settlements for claims FNOL by automating adjudication decisions

Sapiens Decision collapses development cycle times from months to minutes with decision logic managed independent of technology

Business users access our “no code” platform to create business logic in plain English, reducing reliance on IT by up to 90%.

Business agility is achieved with Sapiens Decision by delivering new products to market faster.

Sapiens Decision enables strategic initiatives across Insurance
